'New' Commonwealth

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — Sir Alec Douglas-Home hopes to make a broader concept of Commonwealth co-operation the main theme of the conference of prime ministers opening at Marlborough House Wednesday.

This is the British prime minister's answer to persistent critics of the Commonwealth and to the question, as expressed by one newspaper Friday: "Is this a farce—or has it a future?"

Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya was scheduled to arrive today, joining Australia's Sir Robert Menzies and Uganda's Milton Obote, who are already here. That trio symbolizes the changing complexion of the Commonwealth.

Prime Minister Pearson arrives Tuesday. He faces a heavy social schedule as well as the seven days of 18-country conference sessions.

For some months Douglas-Home has been developing the idea that, with a relaxation of tensions between East and West, the opportunity is clear for new co-operation between the rich white countries of the north and the poor dark countries of the south.

The Commonwealth with its unique linking of centuries of all colors and stages of development can be of immense importance in this mission, Sir Alec maintains.

Douglas-Home proposes a stepped-up program of exchange of experts and volunteers among Commonwealth countries.

The plan, meaning finance from such richer countries as Britain and Canada, would involve a central agency by

As Barriers Fall

Whites Wave Axe Handles

ATLANTA (UPI) — Angry whites wielding axe handles drove Negroes away from a segregated restaurant here Friday but racial barriers fell in many southern cities that once were hotspots.

Johnson City Split

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — Two of the four motels in this town adjacent to President Johnson's LBJ Ranch Friday refused to drop barriers against Negroes despite the new civil rights law. The other two did.

Mrs. Emil Kroll, who with her husband, operates the Eureka Courts, said she "would be happy to" accept Negroes as customers.

Mrs. Teemor Furr, whose husband owns Furr's Cafe and Motel, said Negroes are served in the restaurant but will not be accepted at the new motel which opened only Friday.

"I wouldn't want them in the motel," Mrs. Furr said. "I think I would find some excuse (to refuse Negro customers)."

Byron Crider, owner of Crider's Motel, said he would continue to bar Negroes until all other motels in town integrate.

One motel owner suggested that the decision "to open some of Johnson City's facilities to Negroes was based less on passage of the civil rights bill than on the fact that the town is in the limelight now."

Birmingham, Ala., Danville and Petersburg, Va., Tallahassee, Fla., Memphis, Tenn., and Savannah, Ga., all reported instances of Negroes exercising their rights without incident under the new civil rights law.

Many of the remaining barriers in Atlanta dropped, too. But the city also saw the strongest incident of resistance yet reported under the new law.

PISTOL IN HOLSTER

When three Negro ministers drove up to eat at the restaurant of vocal segregationist Lester Maddox, Maddox and 20 white men were waiting outside for them. Maddox had a pistol in a holster on his belt and at least four of the whites held axe handles.

As the Negroes' car pulled into the parking lot of the restaurant, Maddox ran toward it screaming "Get out of here. You ain't never gonna eat in this place."

BEAT TATTOO

His friends began beating a tattoo on the roof of the car with their axe handles. Maddox vigorously kicked the car and continued yelling.

One of the Negroes got out of the car and began walking toward the restaurant, but the whites, their axe handles raised, chased him back to the car.

'WE'LL BE BACK'

The Negroes then drove away and one of them, Rev. George Willis, leaned out to yell, "We'll be back and we'll come in, too."

Maddox, who once made an unsuccessful bid for lieutenant-governor, said, "I will use axe handles, fists, guns, my employees, my patrons and anything at my disposal" to keep out Negroes. "This place belongs to me."

Nikita Fights Crisis

Secret Poland Talks Reported Planned

LONDON (UPI) — Nikita Khrushchev and selected leaders from key Communist parties will meet secretly in Poland late this month for emergency summit talks on growing crisis within the Communist world, diplomatic sources reported Friday.

The sources said the restricted top-level talks were expected to be held around July 22 under cover of celebrations marking the 20th anniversary of Poland's liberation from Nazi occupation.

They will bring together Khrushchev and eastern European satellite leaders as well as some other Communist party heads, the reports said.

The source said the behind-the-scenes meeting was expected to review latest developments in two key issues disturbing the Communist camp:

● The worsening ideological conflict between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Forest Fire Scorches U.S. Resort

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A wind-whipped brush fire Friday struck a small resort town, scorched it, and sped on into hills beyond. An army of firemen saved the town's houses.

Southern California's first big fire of the summer dry season still is out of control north of Los Angeles.

By dusk Friday it had charred 10,000 acres.

Sudden, gusty winds Friday sent the blaze racing toward Green Valley—a community of 800 in an oak-studded vale.

Scores of firemen and 20 Los Angeles County pumper trucks were waiting in Green Valley when 20-foot high flames raced down a 3,000-foot slope to the village edge.

● Signs of growing dissension within Moscow's satellite empire in eastern Europe.

In a prelude to the expected Warsaw meeting, non-stop consultations have been going on among individual leaders of the Red camp in recent weeks. Their results are to be made known to the gathered leaders in the Polish capital, the sources said.

The preliminary soundings are reliably reported to have revealed a growing restlessness in the Communist movement and serious signs of dissension among the Soviet satellites.

Diplomatic reports reaching here said the dissensions were so deep and widespread they threatened to split the Communist movement not only between Peking and Moscow but also into a wider fragmentation, along national lines.

The reports said there is great confusion within the Communist camp as to its future course, with the Kremlin showing signs of alarm that it may not be able to keep the camp together unless some action is taken very soon.

The Soviet Union is understood—against the advice of some of its allies—to be advocating concrete preparations for a world Communist parley that would try to lay down a firm Communist line to tighten party discipline and adherence to Moscow.

Pisa Tower Riding Slow Rocker

PISA, Italy (UPI) — The leaning tower of Pisa is leaning less, a yearly report on the famous 600-year-old bell tower showed Friday. Silvio Ballarin, the engineer in charge of the tower's inclinations, said the surprising results of this year's measurements showed the 600-year-old structure was leaning six-tenths of a millimeter less than at the same time last year.

Congo

Mercy Ship Sails

BUJUMBURA (CP) — A Belgian lake steamer sailed from this Burund capital Friday for troubled Albertville in the eastern Congo to evacuate British, Canadian, Belgian, and other refugees and United Nations personnel.

Latest information reaching here was that the city was still held by left-wing guerrillas who oppose the central Congolese government.

The unarmed steamer flew Red Cross and United Nations flags as she steamed out on the 19-hour voyage down Lake Tanganyika to Albertville.

Reported among the refugees was Canadian missionary Robert Greenhow, 45, of Windsor, Ont.

Politician Under Cloud

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Bob Satiacum, an Indian fisherman, stood on the roof of Tacoma's tallest hotel Friday and sent up smoke signals announcing his candidacy for state lieutenant-governor.

There was one jarring note to the political smoke-belching. An Indian watching below said Satiacum misspelled "lieutenant."

Mystery Ship

Sea Crash Kills Crewmen

LA CORUNA, Spain (UPI) — An undetermined number of crewmen apparently were killed Friday when a 12,000-ton Spanish freighter collided in fog with another vessel and sank about nine miles off the coast.

The navy said the tanker Bonifaz was afire before it sank.

35 RESCUED

Reports reaching naval authorities at Vigo, Spain, said at least 35 survivors of the Bonifaz were aboard rescue vessels.

Four were reported in serious condition from burns, a navy spokesman said.

The spokesman said the navy did not know of any other survivors from the Bonifaz. The crew was believed to number about 50.

NOT SEEN

"The collision took place because of poor visibility due to thick fog in the area. The other ship was not seen by the rescue ships and no one knows its identity or whereabouts," the spokesman said.

Earlier reports said it was the 30,000-ton French freighter, Fabiola, but the spokesman said, "this is news to me. No ship by that name was reported in the area."

DEAD BOY REVIVED -- IN VAIN

Special to the Colonist

PORT ALBERNI—A five-year-old boy was brought back from death after one hour and 20 minutes Thursday, only to die later in the day, the Colonist learned Friday.

Brian Spencer died in West Coast General Hospital at 11:25 p.m., about 10½ hours after he was pulled from nearby Sproat Lake by his mother, Mrs. Edward Spencer.

SUMMER HOME

Police and doctors told this story last night: Mrs. Spencer, of Compton Road in Alberni, went to the family's summer home on Lakeshore Road late Thursday morning with her six children, aged from nine years to a few months. Mr. Spencer stayed at his job as a truck driver.

WENT AFTER BOAT

Some or all of the children went to the shore to play shortly after their arrival. A toy boat belonging to Brian's smaller brother drifted away and Brian waded in to get it, but went over his depth.

How long he was under the lake surface is not known but Mrs. Spencer, a nurse, recovered his body at 12:50 noon. Brian was not breathing and there was no heartbeat.

RESUSCITATION

While a friend drove them the 10 miles to hospital, Mrs. Spencer applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

They reached the hospital at 12:20 p.m. and a team of two doctors and two nurses, already informed of the accident, immediately started artificial respiration through a tube placed down Brian's throat.

HEART BEATS

Closed heart massage was also applied and Brian's heart began beating at 2:10 p.m. His breathing was restored at 2:15.

However, brain damage was too much and the boy died a little more than nine hours later. He never regained consciousness.

Brian was the fourth youngest of the six Spencer children.

Police said no inquest will be held but there will be an inquiry.

Editors Raided In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (UPI)—Homes of two newspaper editors were raided Friday when South African police staged their biggest mass raids of the year in Johannesburg and Pretoria.

An undisclosed number of persons was arrested as police looked for evidence of anti-government activity.

Brig. J. J. Van Den Bergh, chief of police security confirmed that among those arrested were a reporter for the Johannesburg Star and an 18-year-old girl whose father appears on the government's banned list.

The police chief said one of the homes raided was that of Rand Daily Mail editor L. L. Gandar. The home of Ronald Gill, editor of the Pretoria News, was raided "by mistake," sources close to the police said.

Sammon Honored

More than 50 friends and business acquaintances of the late Gerald K. Sammon last night gathered at Veterans' Hospital to witness the unveiling of a plaque in his memory.

Mr. Sammon, who died of a heart attack in London, England, in May of last year, was an active figure in civic affairs.

MANY POSITIONS

He was on a trip to England following an Ottawa convention of the Department of Veterans' Affairs Employees' National Association, of which he was national president at the time of his death.

He was also a member of the Greater Victoria Infirmary board of directors, chairman of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan board of health, and a member of the board of directors of St. Joseph's Hospital.

"No sorrow should be attached to this ceremony," said Dr. W. L. Coke, medical superintendent of Veterans' Hospital. "It is a ceremony to denote the achievement of Gerald Sammon."

"Fewer people served their fellow man better than did Mr. Sammon," said Dr. Coke. "I knew he was ill when I first met him, and told him he'd better cut down. But it wasn't in his nature to cut down, and so he died."

IN ENTRANCE

Rev. Douglas Kendall, rector of St. Saviour's Anglican Church, dedicated the plaque to Mr. Sammon's memory. It was unveiled by Mrs. Sammon. Also at the ceremony, held just inside the front entrance of the hospital, were representatives of Esquimalt municipality and Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood represented Mayor R. B. Wilson on behalf of the city of Victoria.

There were also representatives of the regional and national offices of the veterans' affairs employees' association.

Victoria Dancers Garner U.S. Highland Dance Prizes

Six trophies and 48 medals and shields were won by Victorians in the 32nd annual Highland dancing and games held in Los Angeles recently.

Major trophy winners were Cheryl Jackson, nine and under aggregate trophy; Gail Bamford, 11 and under aggregate trophy; Danny Costain, 13 and under aggregate trophy and best amateur; Gloria Smith, 15 and under aggregate trophy; and Angus MacKenzie, Heatherlite dancing shoe trophy for professional dancing.

Others of the Victoria contingent were Monica Thistle, Judith Tassel, Nancy Mason, Susan Grahame, Elaine Jones, Elizabeth Thistle, Catherine Gower, Wendy Walton, Jacqueline Farris, Dorothy Chatter, Julie Mannix, Lynne Holden, Janet Ross, Marilyn Smith, Kerry Warhol, Kathy Porter, Rhonda Flemming, Glenn Davis, Beverly Bray, Denise Warhol, Pamela Dann, Fat Tons and piper, Mrs. J. B. Davis.

BBQ EVENT
The event was sponsored by the United Scottish Societies and saw hundreds taking part in the dancing, drumming and sports events.

Royal Roads Lecturer From India

A new lecturer in mathematics has been appointed at the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

Dr. Subhas Chandra Gupta was born in Agra, India, near the famous Taj Mahal. He was educated at Agra University where he obtained his B.Sc. M.Sc. and Ph.D.

He was a lecturer at Agra until 1959 when he left to become deputy superintendent of the survey of Dehra Dun, a city in his own province. He returned to Agra as associate professor of mathematics before going to the Indian Institute of Technology.

Dr. Gupta's wife and three children will remain in Bombay until he is settled here.

Cost Assessment

Firm Named to Study Power Grid Benefits

OTTAWA (CP)—The cost and benefits of a national power grid will be assessed in a second round of studies on the huge project. This will begin shortly, Resources Minister Arthur Laing informed the Commons Friday.

But difficult technical obstacles still stand in the way of an economic national system of long-distance power transmission and exchange.

OTHER STUDIES
Officials said other studies also will be required later into various aspects of the proposal, subject of a one-day federal provincial conference in 1962.

That meeting authorized an initial feasibility study conducted by H. G. Acres Limited of Niagara Falls and Toronto and Mr. Laing said Friday that this report has been made.

Boy's Political Path Open

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts House of Representatives refused Friday to admit for action a bill which would set a minimum age for persons holding public elective office.

The bill was introduced after it was learned that Leonard Tagg, 16, of Weymouth, had filed as an independent candidate for a house seat.

Because it was filed late in the session, the bill required a four-fifths favorable vote to be admitted for consideration.

It failed to gain the four-fifths margin when the house voted 55 to 18 to admit the bill.

Tagg filed for the office after discovering in the course of a vision setting a minimum age high school history project there for those running for office in the state.

'New' Commonwealth

which Commonwealth aid programs could be gathered under one umbrella.

Although the conference is everywhere described as crucial for the future of the Commonwealth, no dramatic decisions are expected.

The big question is whether some sort of loyalty to the Commonwealth as such is subtly replacing loyalty to Britain as the mother country of the "old" Commonwealth countries, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Prime ministers and presidents at the conference will be preoccupied by problems that are at the same time regional and world-wide in scope.

***

African countries are incensed over white-dominated Southern Rhodesia's threats to declare independence unilaterally while Malaysia, Australia and New Zealand are most deeply concerned about Indonesia's attacks on Malaysia. Many countries, including Canada, are involved in the Cyprus situation.

Cyprus is a current example of how Commonwealth countries try to help one another and the weekly New Statesmen, discussing the broad question of Commonwealth survival, notes:

"Over the past few years British governments have broken with the tradition of exclusive responsibility and increasingly sought Commonwealth help.

***

"To recognize the continuing value of the Commonwealth, one has only to imagine how much more intractable each of these problems would appear if it did not exist."

Facts Governing Hair Growth Remain Mostly Mystery

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Why will a woman's hair grow just so long and then no more, unless it is cut? And then it will grow out only as far as before?—E.N.

It's not for lack of trying to find out, but the exact reason for hair growth is not known.

Some things have been discovered about it, and while they may not totally answer your question, they may help.

Hair growth in different parts of the body is not at the same rate. Eyebrows are an example.

SHOWS DOWN

The longer the hair the slower the growth. Thus when the hair is cut, it grows comparatively fast, and then slows down when it reaches a certain length.

It doesn't stop — but it is so slow that you can't detect the growth.

Sometimes hair can be quite brittle, and will break off readily. People with that kind of hair, of course, aren't the ones who can have braids reaching down to their waists.

Age and the seasons have their effect, too. Hair grows more slowly as we get older; it grows more rapidly in hot weather.

***

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been bothered with cystitis for three years, and medication is effective only for a while, then has to be changed. What can be done?—J.C.

Cystitis (inflammation of the bladder) is a broad term which includes well over a dozen types. It has a habit, frequently, of subsiding and flaring up again.

The basis of the trouble may be in the bladder or in the kidneys, or even elsewhere, so I trust that you have had a thorough examination of the urinary tract.

This would include X-rays of the kidneys, and cystoscopic examination of the bladder to permit direct examination for polyps or ulcers.

Assuming that this has been done, another step is to have laboratory cultures made of whatever germ is found, so that the most effective medication can be selected.

***

Dear Dr. Molner: Can anyone who has overproduction of insulin become mentally unbalanced?—MRS. J.F.

Here's what can happen: With overproduction of insulin, a person may become very excitable or even unmanageably manic (if because of the action of the insulin) his blood sugar level falls too low.

Giving sugar is the emergency treatment for this.

Racial Bars Lowered

Alabama Gov. George Wallace was in the forefront of those pledging a continued fight. He called the law "unconstitutional" and refused to take part in an implementation conference suggested by President Johnson.

Wallace promised a last-ditch legal fight, saying the law "should and will be tested in the courts on constitutional grounds."

KLAN ACTIVE

At Pascagoula, Miss., on the Gulf Coast, the Ku Klux Klan used a light plane to drop literature warning of alleged plans of "gangsterism" on the part of Negroes over the July 4 holiday. The pamphlets urged whites to "arm yourself and stay at home. Do not fire unless your home, your person, or family is attacked," the literature said.

NO INCIDENTS

Maddox' stand was in sharp contrast to the one taken by restaurants in Birmingham, once called the most segregated city in the nation. Groups of Negroes entered nine Birmingham restaurants during the day and were served without incident in each case. Four Birmingham theatres also were desegregated.

At Tallahassee, at least four restaurants quietly desegregated, a cafeteria in downtown Memphis opened its doors to Negroes, and Morrison's cafeteria, the south's largest chain, announced from Mobile that all 41 cafeterias in seven southern states were operating on a desegregated basis.

ALLOWED TO SWIM

At Savannah, three Negro teen-aged boys were admitted without incident to a municipal swimming pool that had been the target of a long-standing desegregation suit.

In Virginia, three Negro men and a Negro woman ate lunch at a steak house which had previously refused to serve Negroes, and two theatres and at least three restaurants lowered color bars in Petersburg.

French Plan Opposed By Germans

BONN (UPI) — French President de Gaulle arrived here Friday under heavy security guard for talks with West German Chancellor Erhard and immediately ran into opposition for his proposed Franco-German political union.

De Gaulle, in his campaign for a Europe more independent of American and British influence, has urged a union between Paris and Bonn which other European nations would be free to join.

CONFEDERATION

Erhard, after meeting with de Gaulle and his cabinet ministers, rejected bilateral union in favor of a "practicable" confederation for all six members of the common market.

A German spokesman said de Gaulle and Erhard agreed on the need for "an ever more united Europe" but disagreed on the means for achieving it.

A force of 3,200 West German policemen and detectives has been assigned to protect de Gaulle during his visit here. A bomb threat was received shortly after de Gaulle arrived but it proved unfounded.

Other subjects expected to come up in the two days of talks are de Gaulle's plan for neutralizing southeast Asia and a loosening of ties between NATO and the United States.

OTTAWA (CP) — New regulations reducing the amount of advertising permissible on Canadian television and imposing special controls on FM (frequency modulation) radio programming will go into effect Oct. 1.

The new rules, approved at a closed meeting June 18 of the Board of Broadcast Governors, were made public Friday and will be published in the official Canada Gazette.

'Flag Rammed Down Throats'

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative MPs blasted away at the government-sponsored maple leaf flag again Friday, calling Prime Minister Pearson a despot and dictator for introducing it.

Speaker after speaker protested that the new flag is being rammed down Parliament's throat by a minority government whose support in the last federal election amounted only to 42 per cent of the electorate.

EQUALLY PROUD

P. B. Rynard (PC—Simcoe East) said moderate Canadians of English and French backgrounds were equally proud of their history.

French Canada had been just as staunch as English Canada in fighting off pre-Confederation moves at assimilation by the United States. French and English had fought side by side in war for the same principles.

PIECE OF CLOTH

In the light of all this, the maple leaf flag was "a colorless piece of cloth that doesn't mean anything to Canadians."

Rod Webb (PC—Hastings-Frontenac) said the government was drunk with power and leaning toward dictatorship.

Alfred D. Hales (PC—Wellington South) charged that by introducing the new flag, Mr. Pearson had caused "strife, bitterness and confusion" unequalled by any prime minister since Confederation.

Political Deception To Blame

OTTAWA (UPI) — Conservative frontbencher Angus MacLean said Friday Canada was in trouble over the flag issue because of "political deception" and deceit practised by all political parties.

MacLean, fisheries minister in the former Diefenbaker administration, said both major parties — Conservatives and Liberal — must bear more responsibility because they are national parties and claim support from all parts of the country.

But, he said, had passed resolutions favoring a distinctive national flag without ever defining what distinctive was to mean.

NICOSIA (AP) — Lt. Gen. George Grivas, former leader of the Greek underground on Cyprus, declared Friday that union of this island and Greece "is our main aim" and predicted "it will not be very long before it is achieved."

"If other countries want to help us, we will accept such assistance," he said. "But even if other countries will not help us, we are in a position to get it ourselves."

RETURN DENOUNCED

The Turkish-Cypriot minority has denounced his recent return from self-exile in Greece, saying his aim is to carry out "enosis" — or union with Greece by wiping out Cypriots of Turkish descent. Greek-Cypriots outnumber Turkish-Cypriots four to one.

Grivas led EOKA, the underground guerrillas, in the long fight against British rule. "Enosis" had been his rallying cry. He went to Greece in 1959 when President Makarios of Cyprus accepted independence instead.

Saboteurs, striking before dawn Friday, blew up a water pipeline leading to the British military base of Dhekelia, Cyprus, where about 10,000 British military men and their families are stationed.

It was the second blasting of British water supply in four days.

ECHOS WORDS

Grivas' words on Enosis were echoed by Makarios, a Greek Orthodox archbishop who told

Greek-Cypriot villagers on a visit to northwest Cyprus: "Victory will be ours, and the dreams and desires of the Greeks of Cyprus, which are the same as the dreams and desires of pan-Hellenism, will soon be realized."

Greek Foreign Minister Stavros Kostopoulos expressed "deep surprise" Friday night at a statement by Canadian External Affairs Minister Paul Martin to the House of Commons in Ottawa alleging that "Greece had sent men and arms into Cyprus."

Kostopoulos said: "I wonder where Mr. Martin got his information and I cannot understand why the Canadian foreign minister has not sought direct information from Greece inasmuch as the two countries are allies and have friendly relations."

Rene Chalmers, Haiti's state secretary for foreign affairs, said the invasion was planned and financed by the Dominican government and carried out with the help of Gen. Paul E. Magloire, former president of Haiti, and bitter foe of Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier, now lifetime president of Haiti.

Another Power Scheme?

VANCOUVER (UPI) — The province of British Columbia may launch a third major hydro-electric power scheme in the near future if a proposed $697,000,000 electricity intertie is built from the Pacific northwest to California, a Vancouver report said Friday.

U.S. Congressional approval of the north-south power transmission line could result in implementation in B.C.'s lower mainland region of the Fraser River board on flood control, and hydro-electric development in the Fraser River basin.

Students Quizzed In Big School Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police questioned students of Alpha Junior Secondary School Friday on the theory that its destruction was the work of an arsonist.

RCMP investigated a report that a carload of teenagers was seen in the schoolyard shortly before the $300,000 fire.

OVERCOME

The rambling building in suburban Burnaby was lost in two hours of flame and towering smoke before dawn.

A dozen of the 70 firemen called to the scene were overcome by smoke or suffered minor injuries in the four-alarm blaze. There were no serious injuries.

Police said fires were lit in two classrooms and in the administration offices. The school's 620 pupils began summer holidays two weeks ago.

EXPLOSIONS

Explosions wracked the building as inflammable school supplies blew up.

Firemen said it was one of the worst blazes in the municipality. A stiff wind whipped the flames and sent choking smoke pouring over the area.

Police cordoned off the area as hundreds of people, many in night clothes, gathered to watch the blaze.

The 3½-year-old boy died in St. Justine Hospital where a consulting committee of doctors named by the Quebec College of Physicians and Surgeons had followed his case closely, convinced, however, that the serum was without therapeutic value.

The designs shown above are available in ribbon grain mahogany, rotary cut mahogany and Douglas fir. Doors are all 1½ inches thick and are made in all stock sizes. From 2'8" x 6'8" to 3'0" x 7'0" with all sizes in between available.

Now is the time to have that new entrance door and at the same time enjoy the knowledge that you have the very latest in design.

In order to quote you the exact price for your new door we must know the size and species of wood you require. # Minister Feels Maple Leaf Inadequate as Flag

A maple leaf is inadequate to convey Canada's historical background and her ideals for the future, feels Rev. H. T. Allen, James Bay United.

Canada's national character will be the theme at the 11 a.m. service when Mr. Allen speaks on nationhood and symbols. He will consider these questions:

Does Canada need a simple or a complex symbol for its flag?

Does a nation's character depend on the kind of relations it adopts toward other nations?

Can any truly "modern" nation continue to assert unlimited sovereignty?

What is meant by a Christian nation?

Mr. Allen concedes it is difficult to come up with a design that is acceptable even to him which would include his ideas of Canada's heritage, present associations and aspirations for the future.

As a basic design he would like the St. George's flag. Then, he would concede the maple leaf a position in the upper right quadrant. In the quadrant below, the fleur-de-lis.

"TOO LIMITED"

In the upper left quadrant, a crown for the Commonwealth; in the quadrant below, a symbol to designate the United Nations (even just a circle would be adequate).

If only it weren't for the overall complexity. But of one thing, Mr. Allen is determined. "The maple leaf is too limited."

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

As a record-holder in attending conferences—a record which for many years was unchallenged—my advice lately has been sought by numerous folk who plan to attend a conference this summer.

For some reason summer is the conference season. As soon as lovely spring weather sets in, and until the leaves fall and the first snow appears, a conference mania grips the country. If attending conferences and working on committees could save it, then I would have saved the world single-handed. So when I give advice, it is expert.

Ground Floor

First of all, arrive a day early. This gets you in on the ground floor. You learn to call the incoming delegates by their first names and it makes a big impression to be able to say in discussion, "As good old Joe has so well said," or, "As my friend Jim has well put it..."

Moreover you learn the agenda and what sessions may be safely skipped or are likely to be particularly boring.

Then be sure you learn the language. If someone asks you to speak on a certain matter you can safely say, "It seems to me that the important thing here is not the answer but the question. Are you sure, Mr. Chairman, that we are asking the right question?" This will provoke profound discussion for the rest of the session.

Jumbo Words

Or you can say, "There is much here that tempts me to make a speech. I will confine myself to a question or two. Dr. Dimwit has expressed himself very dogmatically on a number of matters, but are there not two sides to most of these questions? I do not say I agree with the point of view of his opponents—indeed, in most matters Jack Dimwit and I are as one—but we do not want to avoid the appearance of unfairness."

Another good gambit is the comment, "This paper amazes me. I thought it was to be a partisan thesis of the existence."

To Thine Own Self be True

Going to Church on Sunday Or Is It Against Your Beliefs?

By IAN ARROL

Are you going to church on Sunday, or is it against your religion?

What does it mean to be religious? Can the word "religion" be applied to thoughts such as these:

To know and respect oneself is to know and respect all humanity.

To hate others because of their evil, is to deny the seeds of evil within oneself.

To love others because of their good, is to acknowledge the seeds of good within oneself.

Why people act as they do is no great mystery; one has only to look within himself.

Every man is Christ and Adam; Gandhi and Hitler—potentially.

Every woman is the Virgin Mary and Eve; Helen Keller and Madame Nhu—potentially.

If you happened to be fixing your fishing net on the shores of Galilee 2,000 years ago, you might have become one of the disciples of Christ. If you happened to be a young man in Germany looking for a powerful affirmation for your energies, you might have become one of the followers of Hitler.

Each of us is everybody. And our responsibility? Shakespeare gave it when he said: "To thine own self be true. And it must follow, as the night the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man."

For, as modern writer Eric Hoffer puts it: "We usually do unto others what we have already done to ourselves."

Be well with yourself and you will be well with others.

Christmas On Way!

A committee is being set up to organize a week of festive events for next Christmas in Victoria. Alan Maclean, commissioner of the Victoria Visitors Bureau, said the bureau's executive is to work for the setting up of a committee, to be a joint committee of representatives from all interested organizations.

The Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will be among the organizations invited to join, he said. The Jaycees have for years run a Christmas decoration contest.

It's Tough Up North

Alberni 'Outaid' Alaska

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alberni Valley tidal wave victims are receiving more help than are Alaskans hit by the Good Friday earthquake, says Alaskan revenue commissioner R. D. Stevenson.

He pointed out Alaskan damage was $500,000,000 compared to the Alberni Valley's $1,500,000. More than 700 Alberni Valley victims have received about $1,500,000 compensation given by governments, individuals and private organizations.

Alaskan homeowners and businessmen were not automatically reimbursed for losses, said Mr. Stevenson.

"We had a number of federal aid schemes but they didn't cover all of the people or all the losses," he said. "Your people have made out a lot better than many of mine."

The commissioner predicted most of the damaged buildings in his state would be rebuilt within two years.

New building codes have been put into force and formerly haphazard areas are to be replaced by well-planned developments, said Mr. Stevenson.

All future buildings will be constructed to resist the force of earthquakes.

Victorians Winners

COURTENAY—Two Victorians were among the five major winners in the Dominion Day car gymkhana, which drew 24 entries.

John Stor won the large sports car event and Carol Borgens took the women's award. Courtenay residents also won twice, Fred McLaughlin taking the large sedan event and Dennis O'Leary the small sedan contest, while Art Bayne of New Westminster won the small sports car event and was overall time winner.

DUNCAN—Leading cadet David Brand, 15, of the local Admiral Mainguy Sea Cadet Corps, has been chosen to attend a summer course at a U.S. navy base near Seattle. His choice was part of an exchange program.

But Youth Vote Fails

Only Two Opposed

OTTAWA (CP)—While spokesman for all other parties were in favor of lowering the voting age to 18 from 21, two Conservatives opposed the move in the Commons Friday—one of them suggesting it should be increased instead of lowered.

Terry Nugent (PC—Edmonton Stentheria) rose to speak with only four minutes left to the allotted hour for private members business.

He replied to the jeers of other members: "Yes, I am aware that if I speak now I will kill this bill and yes, that is my intention."

Until Mr. Nugent rose, only one other speaker, Gordon Aiken (PC—Parry Sound-Muskoka) said he was against lowering the voting age at this time.

Speakers of all other parties were strongly in favor of supporting the measure proposed by Reid Scott (NDP—Toronto Danforth).

But the Scott bill to lower the franchise right away was "talked out" by Mr. Nugent and probably won't be discussed again this session.

Mr. Scott said he hoped other MPs would allow his bill to reach a vote so that an estimated 800,000 young people would cast votes in the next federal election "that everybody working. But voting was a matter of judgment."

Mr. Nugent said many youths should be raised.

Algoma-Dominion

Firm Mum on Offer

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The directors of Dominion Bridge have decided not to advise its shareholders on the offer of Algoma Steel Corporation to purchase 500,000 shares of the Montreal based steel fabrication business.

The lack of guidance is probably immaterial. Most Dominion Bridge shareholders will take the $30 offer by Algoma regardless, for it is six dollars over the current market value of Dominion Bridge.

What the market expects is that most of the 2,000,000 shares of Dominion Bridge not already held by Algoma, will be deposited for the cash award. On this basis about one in four will be accepted from each shareholder.

Once the offer expires, the expectation is that Dominion Bridge shares will not hold at their current level of about $24, and those who do not accept the Algoma offer will miss out on the premium.

IT PAID TO WAIT
But sometimes it does pay to hold out. In 1962 the Minneapolis hardware distributing firm of Gamble-Skogmo Inc. acquired 97 per cent of the shares of Stedman Bros., and paid $20 a share for them.

The three per cent of Stedman shareholders who resisted the temptation are now being offered $25 a share by the Minneapolis firm.

Court Award Totals $11,298

A B.C. Supreme Court judgment totalling $11,298 was handed down Thursday in favor of Louis H. Schmelz of 5246 Parker Avenue.

Mr. Schmelz received the award for injuries suffered June 11, 1962, when he was struck by a heavy barrel falling from a crane at the Pacific Pile Driving Co. Ltd.

MAY HEARING

The judgment was handed down by Mr. Justice Alan Maclean following a seven-day hearing in May.

The judge found that employees of the company were guilty of negligence in hoisting the barrel and failed to warn Mr. Schmelz of his danger according to 'standard safety practice.'

Mr. Schmelz had been employed as a repairman on a steam engine mounted on a dredge scow at the company wharf.

NOT JUSTIFIED

Mr. Justice Maclean said he could find nothing in the evidence to justify the company's stand that Mr. Schmelz "accepted the risk with full knowledge of the dangers involved" or was guilty of contributory negligence.

The award was broken down into $7,500 for pain and suffering, and for loss of enjoyment of life due to injuries, and $3,798 for hospital expenses and damages due to impaired ability to work and inability to work.

Donald G. Cameron appeared for Mr. Schmelz at the Supreme Court hearing in May.

Costumes Highlight Parks' Summer Fun

Victoria children were having a ball in Stadacona Park Friday—a fancy dress one.

More than 70 children—from toddlers to 12-year-olds—entered a fancy dress contest in part of the parks department's summer fun program for kiddies.

Activities were going on in 11 Victoria parks under supervision of the department.

In charge is program supervisor Gordon Hartley. On a whirlwind tour of the 11 parks, checking to see if everything was running well, he said: "We've really got some good fun lined up for the kids this summer."

There will be tennis instruction, organized games of all kinds—with different highlights each week.

Friday it was fancy costume time. Children turned up in disguises—mostly home-made ones—dressed as everything from cats to clowns, from rabbits to rock'n' rollers.

BLONDE BEATLE

There was even a blonde-haired Beatle, 10-year-old Brenda Grashy, 1841 Chestnut Street, complete with guitar.

Probably one of the youngest entries was four-year-old Lynn De Blois, 267 Sims, dressed as a Chinese girl. All entries were given a small prize, and the winners got ribbons.

First prize in the junior section went to brothers Edward (4) and Charles (5) Jackson, 1400 St. Patrick Street, as a farmer and a rabbit.

FUNNIEST

Two sisters took away first prize in the senior most original couple section. Dressed as Charleston dancers, Bonnie Paterson, 11, and her sister Sharon, 12, of 2117 Sayward Street, were the winners.

First prize for the Funniest entry went to 12-year-old Nancy Thomas, 1665 Pembroke, as a washer-woman.

"In the first four days of our program so far, we've catered for 13,500 children," said Mr. Hartley.

The program will continue throughout the summer.

French Envoy Here

Bi and Bi? Oh, That Ballet

By IAN SMITH

Raymond Bousquet, the French ambassador to Canada, sounded more like a salesman than a diplomat during a brief interview last night which interrupted his brief visit to Victoria.

All he wanted to talk about was the Paris opera ballet, which appears at the Royal Theatre Thursday after an outstanding appearance in Vancouver last Thursday.

"It is events like this that make two countries understand each other," commented the ambassador. "They transcend language; one does not have to speak the same language to appreciate art, fine drama such as this."

He was in Victoria to attend a dinner given in his honor by Lieutenant Governor Pearkes at Government House. He was accompanied by Mme. Bousquet and five members of the French parliament.

Mr. Bousquet was to leave this morning.

The ambassador came to the west coast to attend the Vancouver International Festival, at which the ballet was featured. There are to be four performances of it in Vancouver before it comes to Victoria.

Mr. Bousquet stressed particularly the performance of "The Dying

Swan" (It was a marvel—wonderful. All Victorians will enjoy it.) and the "Black Swan" ("an excellent performance").

"This ballet, it was wonderful."

How about bilingualism and biculturalism?

Well, the ambassador could not answer but an aide furnished:

"It is, and should be, perfect for Canada."

"This sort of thing should not be enforced, but every school child who learns English should also desire to learn French. They complement one another."

"On the other hand, this ballet . . ."

Vic-Van Summit Decision:

Get Views Before Cabinet

By A. H. MURPHY

Municipal leaders from Victoria and Vancouver decided Friday to try for a meeting with the provincial cabinet about the proposed B.C. Hydro bus fare increase.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said after his return from the municipal council-of-war held in Vancouver that civic officials attending the meeting also decided to seek an appearance before the Public Utilities Commission.

TRY FOR MEETING

If various municipal councils in the Victoria-Vancouver area support the stand taken by their mayors and reeves, Vancouver's Mayor William Rathie will try to arrange the meeting with the cabinet.

During the meeting called by Mayor Rathie to marshal arguments against the proposed Hydro increase which would bring bus fares here up to the highest level in Canada, delegates decided to continue joint study of the problem, with the assistance of professional consultants.

PROPOSAL "SHOCKING"

Mayor Wilson said here before the meeting that he would stand by his earlier statement that the proposed increase, which would raise adult cash bus fare to 25 cents, was "shocking."

Such a boost, he said, was aimed at the very heart of Victoria—the downtown—and could well have a crippling effect on the city.

MERCHANTS WORRIED

Mayor Wilson went to the meeting armed with a letter from the Downtown Business Association which expressed the concern of merchants over the issue.

A full-dress debate on the matter was scheduled for last Monday's meeting of city council but was deferred, on the suggestion of Ald. Geoffrey Edgell, until after yesterday's meeting in Vancouver.

AFTER REPORT

Aldermen thought that the whole question could be discussed with more authority after the mayor reported his findings.

If other municipal leaders hold views similar to those of Mayor Wilson there is little doubt that the whole question will end up in the lap of the Public Utilities Commission.

If the sought increase is passively accepted by the municipalities involved the matter would not have to be given a PUC airing.

RESISTANCE STIFFENS

However resistance has stiffened since the plan was proposed and the hearing now seems inevitable.

Resistance may well now have reached the point where the municipalities will accept no increase at all.

Businessmen in Victoria feel there has to be some form of public transportation and, as the letter from the Business Association points out, it may have to be subsidized to keep fares down.

Hole-in-One Contest Ends Today

The annual Goro hole-in-one contest will wind up at Mattick's farm today with golf—and lots more.

Clowns and a rock 'n' roll band will be on hand between 1 p.m. and 10 p.m. and candy and balloons will be dispensed to the children, free. The day winds up with a draw for a huge grocery hamper, TV set and other prizes.

No aces were scored last night. Prizes for shots closest to the hole went to J. D. Harris, 1194 Esquimalt, $15; Gerry Houghton, 2835 Sooke, $10, and Mrs. R. S. Dyer, 912 Newport, $5.

Unorganized Areas

Mini-Metro Election Slated Before Aug. 15

By IAN STREET

Colonist Legislative Reporter

Elections of a representative at-large from each of the unorganized territories within the Capital Region will be held by Aug. 15, Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell said yesterday.

He said the elections will be held, at a date still to be announced, so that these "special areas" can participate fully in confidential discussions leading to establishment of a joint service board.

The six municipalities within the Capital Region have also been advised that Aug. 15 is the deadline for starting talks aimed at framing the necessary new legislation.

Mr. Campbell asked the municipalities to authorize an exchange of information between municipal officials and the staff of the department of municipal affairs.

This will provide the factual material to be used as the basis for discussions which, the minister said, will get under way "sometime between now and Aug. 15."

Mr. Campbell said he had so far received no report on recommendations for establishment of electoral zones in the unorganized territories of Colwood, Langford and Metchosin.

Each will elect one representative-at-large to take part in the discussions and the advisory planning commissions for Community Planning Area No. 4, which includes all three areas, has been asked to recommend on location of zone boundaries.

The government proposal to gain elected representation for the unorganized territories on the question of regional services isn't connected in any way with local efforts in Langford-Colwood to incorporate the area.

Other representatives will be elected from North Saanich and View Royal and possibly Sooke.

Local councils have already been asked to send their mayor, reeve or chairman.

The legislation is expected to come before the next session of the legislature.

The services which have been suggested as the ones requiring tackling on a regional basis are sewage and garbage disposal, parks and recreation, planning, health and hospitals.

Transit Audit Ordered

A cabinet order authorizing appraisal of B.C. Hydro transit holdings and auditing of financial statements by the Public Utilities Commission was made public Friday.

The order-in-council approved the study ordered by PUC chairman H. F. Angus.

It pointedly made reference only to appraisal of property of B.C. Hydro and Power Authority "devoted to urban transit services."

The PUC chairman reported to the government that since it may be called up to exercise its statutory jurisdiction over requested 25-cent transit fares it was necessary to carry out the appraisal and audit immediately.

The chief engineer of the PUC will direct the appraisal of B.C. Hydro transit holdings and report his findings within 30 days.

He will also co-operate with the commission's audit branch in reporting on the financial side of the transit operation.

This in particular will cover operating revenues and expenses and provision for depreciation in 1963.

Injured Child Ran Into Car

A child who darted in front of a car on Cook Street Friday afternoon later was reported in satisfactory condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital with a "suppressed" skull fracture and missing teeth.

Lynda Blythe, 5, of 1138 Pembroke, was running across Cook at its intersection with Pembroke when she was in collision with a car driven by Sam Gim Pom - Kenyon Sam, 18, of 920 Caledonia, police said.

CAR GOING SLOWLY

The proprietors of a neighborhood grocery store, who witnessed the accident, said the girl would probably have been hurt far worse than she was if Mr. Sam had not been driving slowly.

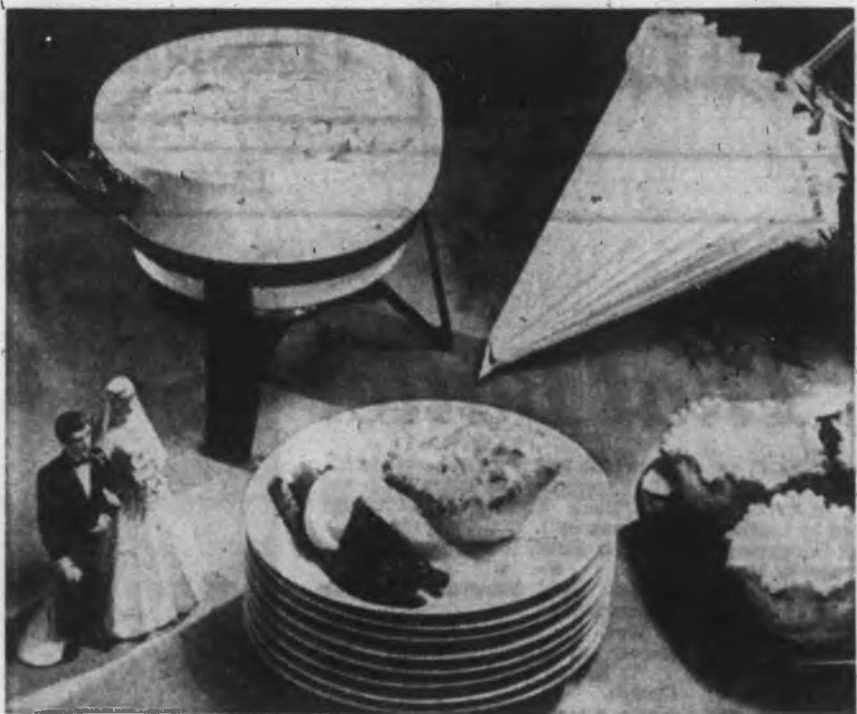

They said the girl was running east on Pembroke and continued onto the road, where she was in collision with Mr. Sam's car.

can be transformed into shrimp Newburg or chicken à la king, is the silver lining in this storm of menu planning.

Food for a Shower

Planning a shower party demands close attention to details, such as the guest list and the decorations and what to serve after the gifts have been opened.

Family recipes, perfect for four to six servings, are not always successful when tripled or quadrupled because the balance of ingredients can be disturbed.

Here is a flexible recipe that will provide twenty-four servings of a rich cream sauce suitable with either fish or fowl.

The sauce is easy to prepare and has a subtle yet delightful flavor with shrimp, for a perfect Shrimp Newburg, or chicken, for a tasty Chicken à la King.

There is a choice of serving methods for these recipes. Delicate patty shells can be ordered from the baker or made by a talented hostess herself with circular-cut pie crust dough shaped on the bottom of muffin cups. Fluffy rice, split hot biscuits or toast points can also be used as a base.

RICH CREAM SAUCE

Yield: 9½ cups.
Condensed Cream of Mushroom Soup, undiluted, (10-ounce cans each), 7 cans. Milk or light cream, 1 cup. Egg yolks, slightly beaten, 4 (about ½ cup).

1. Combine soup and milk; heat just to boiling, stirring occasionally. DO NOT BOIL.
2. Gradually stir a little of the sauce into egg yolks; combine with rest of sauce.

3. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring frequently.
4. Serve over meat, poultry, fish or vegetables, or in the following recipe variations.

Yield: 24 servings (¾ cup each).
Rich cream sauce, 9½ cups.
Cooked shrimp, cut in half lengthwise, 1½ pounds, edible portion, 6 cups. (3½ pounds raw shrimp, as purchased).

Cooking sherry (optional), ¼ cup. Ground nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon. Paprika, ½ teaspoon.

1. Combine ingredients; heat but DO NOT BOIL.

2. Serve over toast points, hot split biscuits, hot fluffy rice or in patty shells.

*2 packages (14 ounces each) frozen cleaned shrimp may be substituted.

CHICKEN A LA KING

Yield: 24 servings (¾ cup each).
Rich cream sauce, 9½ cups. Chopped green pepper, 5 ounces, 1 cup. Butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons. Cooked chicken, cut into 1-inch pieces, 2 steaming hens (4-½ pounds each) as purchased. Chopped pimiento, ½ cup.

1. Prepare rich cream sauce.
2. Sauté green pepper in butter until tender.

3. Combine with rich cream sauce, chicken and pimiento; but DO NOT BOIL.

4. Serve over toast points, hot split biscuits, hot fluffy rice or in patty shells.

New York Home For Couple

A wedding of interest to Victorians took place in the Sage Chapel at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., in mid-June when Rev. Warren E. Traub heard vows exchanged between Meredith Savale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming Savale, Sr., 250 Douglas Street, and Juergen Max Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudi M. Schroeder of Ohio.

Seven-branched candelabra at the altar and gold standards of white and pink peonies decorated the chapel. Miss Miriam E. Lloyd was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire-line gown of ivory peau de sole with redingote of silk organza. Sprays of flowers embroidered in Alecon lace and seed pearls highlighted bodice and skirt of the redingote, and the chapel train which swept from softly gathered back. A full length circular veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of stephanotis and gypsophila. A single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, was the only jewelry. Her bouquet was of Phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and gypsophila.

Matron of honor, Mrs. William Moore, Winnipeg, sister of the bride, chose a full-length deep gold silk organza Empire-line gown and carried sunset-colored roses and English ivy. Pale green gowns of similar style, accented by emerald green velvet ribbons at the waist, were worn by bridesmaids, Miss Miriam T. Lloyd, Washington, D.C.; Miss Joan Spencer, Toronto, and Miss Katherine Detweller, Ithaca, N.Y. They carried golden garden roses and ivy.

All three attendants wore head chaplets of English ivy. Brother of the groom, Mr. Detrich Schroeder, was best man. Mr. William Fleming Savale, twin brother of the bride; Mr. Ruediger S. Schroeder, brother of the groom, and Mr. David H. Smith, New Jersey, ushered guests to their pews.

The groom's father proposed the toast at a reception in the Anabel Taylor Hall Courtyard, Cornell, overlooking the Cayuga valley. Cake was topped with white roses and gypsophila. Smilax garlands, Pinnocchio pom poms and white margarites decorated guest tables.

Following a brief wedding trip in the East, couple are now living in New York. They expect to visit Victoria in August.

Honor Bride

Prior to her marriage, Miss Sharon Thompson MacKay came from Vancouver to attend a shower in her honor, at the home of Mrs. Jack Knight, Simon Road. Co-hostesses were Mrs. E. T. Lee, Mrs. C. Knudsen and Mrs. Harold Todd.

The table was centered with deep purple and mauve flowers, flanked by tall yellow tapers in crystal holders.

Among the guests were: Mrs. J. S. MacKay, Mrs. W. C. Gelling, Mrs. A. Palmer, Mrs. K. Rix, Mrs. J. Conconi, Miss D. Conconi, Mrs. W. Beischer, Mrs. W. Lyons, Mrs. R. Colegrave, Mrs. M. Fleming, Miss Merry Martin, Mrs. E. G. Martin, Mrs. G. Paquin, Mrs. P. Thompson, Patricia Thompson, Mrs. J. Forbes, Mrs. E. Cook, Mrs. David Leidler, Mrs. Stuart, Heather MacKay and Heather Stuart.

University friends gathered at the apartment of Miss Felicity Neave for a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Sharon MacKay in Vancouver, and the Vancouver staff of the social welfare office also gave a miscellaneous shower for her.

This can be your ticket to a cool, comfortable summer outdoors. You'll find any one of a number of compact additions that will cut out the sun and catch the mildest breeze. They'll protect summer furnishings and make meals more pleasant. This bright, striped canvas slips over the roof frame where it's held tightly by the ornamental posts. It's really four complete sections bolted tightly together: 2 x 4s are standing on edge, spaced slightly so they'll dry quickly after you hose them off. — (Better Homes and Gardens)

Spend Honeymoon In San Francisco

Rev. D. A. Hatfield officiated at the ceremony in St. Paul's and Garrison Church that united Linda Rae Parry and Mr. William Wayne Wiebe.

Parents of the principals are Mrs. George Brown, 937 Shirley Road, and the late Mr. J. Harper Parry, and Mr. and Mrs. William Wiebe of Vancouver. Mr. Brown gave his step-daughter in marriage.

Pink snapdragons and carnations decorated the church for the evening ceremony.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie. It featured lily point sleeves and rounded neckline, enhanced with applied lace flowers, seed pearls and pearl sequins. Bodice dipped to a V at waistline and skirt swept into a slight train from bustle effect at back. Waist-length veil misted from a headpiece of white nylon roses and seed pearls. Yellow roses and white petal carnations formed the cascade bouquet.

Identical gowns of blue chormespun taffeta were choice of maid of honor, Miss Diane Wiebe, sister of the groom, bridesmaid, Miss Christine Johnson, and junior bridesmaids, Miss Judy Parry, sister of the bride, and Miss Susan Lawson, the bride's cousin.

Miss Patty Lawson was flower girl for her cousin in a yellow chormespun taffeta frock.

They complemented their outfits with self-fabric flower headpieces and carried cascade bouquets of yellow and white carnations with blue ribbon trim.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 12-year-old daughter Diane is an only child. Because of my husband's work we must go out socially at least three evenings a week.

Our neighbors have a 17-year-old son who is eager to earn some spending money. For the last several months we have had this boy sit with Diane. It seemed like a perfectly splendid idea—until recently.

When my husband and I came home Saturday night, at about midnight, Diane was not in her bed. She was in the bathroom with the door locked. We pounded on the door until she let us in. The poor girl had fallen asleep. She had taken her pillow and blanket and made herself a bed for herself in the bathtub.

We finally got an explanation out of her. Diane's bedroom door has no lock and she is afraid of the boy. She gave us her word that he had never done or said anything wrong—but she was "afraid he might."

We don't want to be unfair to the boy, Ann. What should we do? We believe Diane was telling the whole truth. Thank you—CONCERNED PARENTS.

Dear Parents: The boy may be perfectly fine in every respect, but it is apparent that Diane is not comfortable with him.

Get a girl sitter—a big sister substitute. The boy, of course, relationships sound pretty shaky right now. What's to harm?

I hope your husband will buy Manny's 25 per cent back even if he has to pay a lot more than he thinks he should.

Don't feel guilty. Relatives who feed from a common trough frequently have hostile feelings toward one another although they present a beautiful picture of solidarity to outsiders. (If the boys get along well, their wives don't, etc.) Of course there are exceptions, but they are as rare as sand flies in Siberia.

Ann, Honey: I read your column every day and I hope you won't take seriously that letter from "Sugar and Spice." He was an old meanie who criticized you for calling your readers "Buster," "Petunia," "Buttercup," "Lambie Pie" and a few other cutesy woolly names.

I am at least twice your age, Doll, and so far as I am concerned, your column is refreshingly down-to-earth. Please do not ever change. You can call me "Buddy Boy" any time you want to and I hope it is real soon—LOUISVILLE SALT AND PEPPER.

Dear Louisville: Thanks for those kind words, Buddy Boy. See—you didn't have to wait long.

Double Plunge

Deep Cut

Duplicated

Fashionable exposures are causing stylish conversations. Our first question today is along this line.

Q. What is double plunge?
A. A double plunge describes a deep-cut décolletage both in front and back. Necklines in front this season frequently are low and revealing. They are referred to by such terms as dagger, diving, zoom and plunging.

Now some designers have duplicated the front depth in the back of gowns. The result is that these décolletages are called double plunges, ditto daggers, diving duos, matched zooms and fore-and-aft dips.

Double plunges appear in cocktail and evening dresses and are scheduled for greater promotion come fall.

Rockery Hounds

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In pondering upon the skyrocketing popularity of rock gardening, it seems to me that this hobby has something to offer the advanced amateur: that no other branch of gardening can quite parallel—the possibility of experimenting with hundreds of different species even in a very small garden.

To do this it is not necessary to construct an elaborate rock garden, the different kinds of rock, the natural formation of strata and all the other technical matters so dear to the hearts of landscape architects.

For here we come up against an odd fact: There are really two different kinds of rock gardening, and it is seldom that both kinds are followed by the same person.

One is concerned principally with design—the rocks are the important factor—and emphasis is on the choice of the stone and its setting in as natural and dramatic a manner as possible. Plants are of secondary importance and are chosen primarily for their ability to enhance the illusion of a natural mountain outcrop.

The other kind of rock gardening has for its object the cultivation of the greatest possible variety of dwarf plants. The rock garden—if there is one at all—exists solely to provide pockets of different kinds of soil for the varying needs of the plants—some in shade, some in sun, some flat, some vertical, some with peaty soil, some with limestone chippings, some with gritty loam.

As long as the result isn't a positive eyesore, the owner is usually quite satisfied even if his rock garden bears no resemblance to any outcroppings found in nature.

The interest of such a garden resides in its inmates rather than its construction—often these hobbyists don't bother with a rock garden at all, but grow their treasures in raised beds, rock walls and the like—and each plant becomes well known and loved.

Such a rock gardener quickly becomes expert in names that will seem gobbledygook to his less knowledgeable able friends, and he becomes fascinated by the task of learning and providing the special needs of every plant he grows.

No two will be quite alike, and while some of them will be fairly easy doers if given a reasonably porous soil, others will tax his ingenuity to the utmost just to keep them alive, let alone convert them to really thriving specimens.

The odd thing to the outsider is that the really keen rock gardener values his plants not for their beauty, but in inverse proportion to their ease of culture.

His greatest love and highest praise will be for some tiny alpine plant, miffy and difficult to grow, that seems to the uninitiated to be far less attractive than creeping phlox or thyme or aubretia, but to him it will have a charm that such easily mastered subjects can never challenge.

As with most popular hobbies, the beauty of rock gardening is that there is no end to it. You can spend a lifetime with alpine plants and still have plenty to learn and thousands of new plants to discover.

Bergman Icy

The Little World of
SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Ingrid Bergman plays the coldest-woman role of her entire career in The Visit. She is even made up to look cold—like a corpse. No, Ingrid has not joined veteran actresses Joan Crawford and Bette Davis who have made new fortunes as horror haridans. The part—a very rich woman who comes back to her village to destroy the lover who jilted her when she was a girl—calls for Ingrid to be absolutely cold and cruel. The man she causes to be killed is Anthony Quinn, and this is a new kind of role for him, too. The Visit is more frightening than Baby Jane or Charlot.

Peter Seller's illness cost his picture, Kiss Me Stupid an extra $1,500,000. I can understand his desire not to return to Hollywood. When you have nearly died in a place you don't want to come back. He hardly saw Hollywood. He was busy working in those three and a half weeks before he became ill, or flying to London to see his wife Britt Ekland, whom I hear is a cousin to that other very blonde actress, Mai Britt. Mrs. Sammy Davis Junior.

British actress Virginia McKenna who starred in The Barretts of Wimpole Street not too long ago, is now getting acquainted with the lonesome which will play Elsie in Born Free. Carl Foreman is producing the picture this August in Africa. It's a marvellous story—a best seller for heaven knows how long.

A TV-weary friend of screen and TV star Cliff Robertson was talking about the good old days when there was no television. "You mean," interrupted Cliff, "when people showed you home movies as an excuse for an evening's entertainment?" No thanks.

Don't envy Milti Gaynor her fat salary in Las Vegas, Washington and elsewhere. She has a payroll to meet of $6,000 every blessed week. Milti is thinking of taking her show to the Orient, complete with her big payroll.

Love Locked Out

By ART BUCHWALD

Dr. Eric Riss, a sociologist, insists marriages made through computers are more successful than those made in heaven.

Through in-depth personality tests and swift calculations of an 0-82 IBM electronic computer Dr. Riss is said to have mated 730 couples with only two divorces. He has been pairing people for the past eight years.

"Most people fail in love and then they try to find out if they are compatible," he said. Dr. Riss's method is much more scientific. He makes a personality profile which he transfers to a punch card which is fed into an IBM sorter, each representing another applicant of the opposite sex whose likes and dislikes, educational background, temperament, ambition and goals shape up suitably. Then a match is made.

We're not too concerned with the 730 successful marriages arranged by Dr. Riss as much as we are by those two divorces. Where did the computer go wrong? Let's look in on one of the two couples.

Mrs. Jones comes into the living room. "What happened to us, George? We seem to be drifting away from each other."

"I don't know," George says. "Something must have happened to our personality profile analysis."

"Of course not. Somebody just punched a wrong hole in my IBM card. It could have happened to anyone."

"But we do have the same temperament," Mrs. Jones says.

"That's true," George says. "And our ambitions are similar. We both want me to be rich."

"We both love to play golf and watch The Defenders on television," Mrs. Jones says.

"I have a BA degree and you have a BA degree, so it couldn't be our educational differences," George says.

"We both read the same books and enjoy the same music."

"When we travel we always like to visit the same places and I don't think we've ever had a quarrel about our vacation."

"No, we haven't," Mrs. Jones says. "You seem to eat everything I cook for you."

"I do and I like it. Our taste in food is very similar."

"Even our dislikes are the same. You don't like to dance and neither do I. You hate to go to cocktail parties as much as I do. We both dislike our in-laws."

"As far as the house goes," George says. "I have no quarrel with your choice in decoration."

"And I've always been interested in your work," Mrs. Jones says.

"We seem to be perfectly matched," George says.

"Then what could it be?" Mrs. Jones says.

"We've thought of everything," George says.

"Not everything. Let me ask you something, George. Do you love me?"

"No," George replies. "Do you love me?"

"Of course not," Mrs. Jones replies.

"Then that's it," George says. "Why didn't I think of it before?"

Mrs. Jones breaks down and cries. "It wasn't your fault, George. The IBM machine can't think of everything."

Remember . . . ?

Asks HAL BOYLE

Remember when: Spinach was the vegetable bane of childhood, because parents said: "It's full of iron and iron is good for you!"

The dentist was pleased if you brushed your teeth at night and morning. Even most rich people didn't bother to brush after every meal.

There was a difference between masculine and feminine realms of power. Mother was the expert on anything pertaining to the house, father was the unchallenged authority on such matters as sports and politics.

One of the secret diversions in high school English classes was looking up the naughty words in the works of William Shakespeare.

Medicine, if it was to do you any real good, had to taste bad—and it unusually was colored dark brown.

Golf and tennis were both regarded as sissy games played largely by well-to-do people who weren't physically up to the wear and tear of body-contact sports.

Hospitals were feared by most persons. They were regarded as places where you went to die rather than to get well.

Anybody who got his car up to more than 60 miles an hour was considered a reckless daredevil.

Every blonde wanted to look like Jean Harlow, and every redhead like Clara Bow.

Every well-brought up little girl took piano lessons; every little boy studied either the violin or the saxophone.

An alarmist was a fellow who thought there might be a Second World War.

The only frozen food served in the home was ice cream—and most of it was homemade.

Oratory was still widely admired, and a political candidate who couldn't give a stirring two-hour speech was hardly worth voting for.

Any stenographer risked her reputation if she showed up at the office wearing red fingernail polish.

Only the very wealthy worried about the income tax.

The working man who got a full week's paid vacation a year felt he was fortunate.

And only sick people ever were put on diets.

Those were the days. Remember?

Seat Belt Data Mandatory On Future Accident Reports

Accident reports must now show whether seat belts were installed and in use at time of accident, according to a new motor vehicle branch ruling.

A revised form, used to provide province-wide accident statistics for the motor vehicle branch, is being printed for distribution to law agencies across the province.

The form, currently used by the Vancouver city police, also serves to indicate where changes in regulations may be made.

A law passed recently states that any new vehicle coming into the province, after the first of this year, is required to have seat belts, though they are not mandatory for older vehicles.

Recently released figures for accidents indicate that, during the first half of 1964, 156 persons died, exactly the same number for the same time last year.

TV's Hoedown Gang At Arena Monday

Cousin Clem is bringing his Country Hoedown pals to Victoria, Monday.

Cousin Clem, more properly known as Gordie Tapp, is one of the stars of the CBC's popular country and Western Music program who will visit Victoria as part of the group's western tour.

They will present a concert in the Memorial Arena at 8:30 p.m.

FIRST VISIT

Country Hoedown started eight years ago but this is the first time any member of its cast has visited the West other than via the TV screen every Friday.

Mr. Tapp, joined the Hoedown cast eight years ago when he was asked to MC the auditions. Not only does he play the role of Clem but also sings and plays the guitar.

Also scheduled to appear in Victoria are the Hames Sisters, Tommy Common, Tommy Hunter, Pat Hervey, Maurice Bolyer and Al Cherney.

The sisters, Marjorie, Jean and Norma, have also been on Country Hoedown for eight years.

Al Cherney is considered to be the North American fiddle champion by many people. He only joined the show in 1961, just 11 years after his first professional engagement at the Calgary Stampede.

Tommy Common is also well known on radio with his "The Common Touch" program. He started as a professional singer when he was 11 and later appeared for several months on Arthur Godfrey's morning TV show.

Another member with his own radio show is Tommy Hunter, recently honored when he was the only Canadian invited to the world's largest country and Western music show in Madison Square Garden. He has also made regular appearances in Grand Ole Opry.

The Western tour opens in Vancouver, tonight, and after Victoria's show, the troupe moves east to Kelowna, Vernon, Kamloops, the Calgary Stampede, Medicine Hat, Lloydminster, Regina, Swift Current and Weyburn.

Holland-Bound

Dream Trip Comes True Thanks to Little Fish

A dream holiday will begin to unfold for Mr. and Mrs. Carman Angus, 1640 Sheridan, on Sunday as they board a Canadian Pacific airliner for Holland and Great Britain.

The trip was the main hidden-weight prize in the 1963 Colonist King Fisherman contest.

"We're thrilled!" is the way Marion Angus describes her feelings. "It's something you dream about, and then you're actually going."

"I can't tell you how much we're looking forward to it."

Mr. Angus won the contest with a six-pound, 10-ounce salmon that he caught off Secretary Island in Sooke on July 19.

This year's King Fisherman contest hidden weight winner will get a trip for two via Canadian Pacific Airlines to New Zealand.

"It was a pretty small fish,"

Mr. Angus commented, "but it's going to be a big trip."

The Anguses will take the CPA's polar route to Amsterdam to begin their week-long expenses-paid tour of the Netherlands. They will follow this with a holiday in England.

"I don't know when we'll return," said Mrs. Angus, "and we don't care; this is the chance of a lifetime and we'll make the most of it."

They have travelled only in the United States, but next week they will be enjoying guided tours that include a flower auction, a cheese market and other areas of their own choosing.

"I'm looking forward to those canals and flowers," states Mr. Angus. "We've always wanted to see Holland; it's such an interesting country, and it looks as if we're going to cover it pretty thoroughly."

He has one regret, however. "You know, I'm going to be away for July, and that's the best fishing month around here. But who knows—maybe I'll get some fishing in over there."

Even if he doesn't wet a line until he returns, though, Mr. Angus will have had his share of fishing excitement this year. He caught a spring of over 30 pounds in Becher Bay last week and on Monday he went that one better—a 30-pound octopus that he snagged while looking for another salmon.

"I thought we had bottom, but we just kept circling around and gradually it came loose. Now it's in my live bait box."

This presents its own problems, of course. "Is there any easy way to deal with an octopus?" he asks.

But nobody is really caring too much about an octopus in the Angus family—not with a flight to Holland in the offing.

RCMP Seek Hit-Run Driver

HOUSTON (CP)—RCMP were searching near this northern B.C. community Monday for a driver who failed to remain at the scene after his car knocked down a man late Sunday.

The unidentified victim attempted to rouse the occupants of a store, then spent the night in a garage behind the building. He was discovered early Monday and taken to hospital suffering undetermined injuries.

Catholic, Anglican Priests

Wedding Joint Rite

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Patrick C. Barker were married recently in what is believed to be the first U.S. wedding officiated jointly by Roman Catholic and Protestant clergy.

A Roman Catholic priest, Rev. Leonard Jackson, and an Episcopal (Anglican) priest, Rev. Claudius Miller, married the couple June 13 in a suburban Watson Woods Roman Catholic Church. Each priest read the vows from the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer. Father Jackson used the exhortation and final blessing from the Roman Catholic clergy.

BISHOPS ARRANGE

Barker of St. Louis, the groom, is a Roman Catholic. His new wife, the former Susan Ekberg of Greenwich, Conn., is Episcopalian. The combined ceremony was arranged by Joseph Cardinal Ritter, Archbishop of the St. Louis Roman Catholic Diocese, and Bishop George L. Cadigan of the Episcopal diocese of Missouri. The bride's parents requested the ceremony.

The wedding was not announced until Friday because the bride and bridegroom wished to avoid publicity before their honeymoon.

A Roman Catholic spokesman said the wedding was arranged on "a bishop-to-bishop level." The spokesman explained that

Roman Catholics and Episcopalians "are not far apart in rituals and ceremonies."

'New' Commonwealth

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — Sir Alec Douglas-Home hopes to make a broader concept of Commonwealth co-operation the main theme of the conference of prime ministers opening at Marlborough House Wednesday.

This is the British prime minister's answer to persistent critics of the Commonwealth and to the question, as expressed by one newspaper Friday: "Is this a farce—or has it a future?"

Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya was scheduled to arrive today, joining Australia's Sir Robert Menzies and Uganda's Milton Obote, who are already here. That trio symbolizes the changing complexion of the Commonwealth.

Prime Minister Pearson arrives Tuesday. He faces a heavy social schedule as well as the seven days of 18-country conference sessions.

For some months Douglas-Home has been developing the idea that, with a relaxation of tensions between East and West, the opportunity is clear for new co-operation between the rich white countries of the north and the poor dark countries of the south.

The Commonwealth with its unique linking of centuries of all colors and stages of development can be of immense importance in this mission, Sir Alec maintains.

Douglas-Home proposes a stepped-up program of exchange of experts and volunteers among Commonwealth countries.

The plan, meaning finance from such richer countries as Britain and Canada, would involve a central agency by

As Barriers Fall

Whites Wave Axe Handles

ATLANTA (UPI) — Angry whites wielding axe handles drove Negroes away from a segregated restaurant here Friday but racial barriers fell in many southern cities that once were hotspots.

***

Johnson City Split

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — Two of the four motels in this town adjacent to President Johnson's LBJ Ranch Friday refused to drop barriers against Negroes despite the new civil rights law. The other two did.

Mrs. Emil Kroll, who with her husband, operates the Eureka Courts, said she "would be happy to" accept Negroes as customers.

Mrs. Teemor Furr, whose husband owns Furr's Cafe and Motel, said Negroes are served in the restaurant but will not be accepted at the new motel which opened only Friday.

"I wouldn't want them in the motel," Mrs. Furr said. "I think I would find some excuse to refuse Negro customers."

Byron Crider, owner of Crider's Motel, said he would continue to bar Negroes until all other motels in town integrate.

One motel owner suggested that the decision "to open some of Johnson City's facilities to Negroes was based less on passage of the civil rights bill than on the fact that the town is in the time-light now."

Birmingham, Ala., Danville and Petersburg, Va., Tallahassee, Fla., Memphis, Tenn., and Savannah, Ga., all reported instances of Negroes exercising their rights without incident under the new civil rights law.

Many of the remaining barriers in Atlanta dropped, too. But the city also saw the strongest incident of resistance yet reported under the new law.

PISTOL IN HOLSTER

When three Negro ministers drove up to eat at the restaurant of vocal segregationist Lester Maddox, Maddox and 20 white men were waiting outside for them. Maddox had a pistol in a holster on his belt and at least four of the whites held axe handles.

As the Negroes' car pulled into the parking lot of the restaurant, Maddox ran toward it screaming "Get out of here. You ain't never gonna eat in this place."

BEAT TATTOO

His friends began beating a tattoo on the roof of the car with their axe handles. Maddox vigorously kicked the car and continued yelling.

One of the Negroes got out of the car and began walking toward the restaurant, but the whites, their axe handles raised, chased him back to the car.

'WE'LL BE BACK'

The Negroes then drove away and one of them, Rev. George Willis, leaned out to yell, "We'll be back and we'll come in, too."

Maddox, who once made an unsuccessful bid for lieutenant-governor, said, "I will use axe handles, fists, guns, my employees, my patrons and anything at my disposal" to keep out Negroes. "This place belongs to me."

Nikita Fights Crisis

Secret Poland Talks Reported Planned

LONDON (UPI) — Nikita Khrushchev and selected leaders from key Communist parties will meet secretly in Poland late this month for emergency summit talks on growing crisis within the Communist world, diplomatic sources reported Friday.

The sources said the rescheduled top-level talks were expected to be held around July 22 under cover of celebrations marking the 20th anniversary of Poland's liberation from Nazi occupation.

They will bring together Khrushchev and eastern European satellite leaders as well as some other Communist party heads, the reports said. The source said the behind-the-scenes meeting was expected to review latest developments in two key issues disturbing the Communist camp:

● The worsening ideological conflict between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

● Signs of growing dissension within Moscow's satellite empire in eastern Europe.

In a prelude to the expected Warsaw meeting, non-stop consultations have been going on among individual leaders of the Red camp in recent weeks. Their results are to be made known to the gathered leaders in the Polish capital, the sources said.

The preliminary soundings are reliably reported to have revealed a growing restlessness in the Communist movement and serious signs of dissension among the Soviet satellites.

Diplomatic reports reaching here said the dissensions were so deep and widespread they threatened to split the Communist movement not only between Peking and Moscow but also into a wider fragmentation, along national lines.

The reports said there is great confusion within the Communist camp as to its future course, with the Kremlin showing signs of alarm that it may not be able to keep the camp together unless some action is taken very soon.

***

The Soviet Union is understood — against the advice of some of its allies — to be advocating concrete preparations for a world Communist parley that would try to lay down a firm Communist line to tighten party discipline and adherence to Moscow.

Pisa Tower Riding Slow Rocker

PISA, Italy (UPI) — The leaning tower of Pisa is leaning less, a yearly report on the famous 600-year-old bell tower showed Friday. Silvio Ballarin, the engineer in charge of the tower's inclinations, said the surprising results of this year's measurements showed the 600-year-old structure was leaning six-tenths of a millimetre less than at the same time last year.

Congo

Mercy Ship Sails

BUJUMBURA (CP) — A Belgian lake steamer sailed from this Burundian capital Friday for troubled Albertville in the eastern Congo to evacuate British, Canadian, Belgian, and other refugees and United Nations personnel.

Latest information reaching here was that the city was still held by left-wing guerrillas who oppose the central Congolese government.

The unarmed steamer flew Red Cross and United Nations flags as she steamed out on the 19-hour voyage down Lake Tanganyika to Albertville.

Reported among the refugees was Canadian missionary Robert Greenhow, 45, of Windsor, Ont.

Politician Under Cloud

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Bob Saticum, an Indian fisherman, stood on the roof of Tacoma's tallest hotel Friday and sent up smoke signals announcing his candidacy for state lieutenant-governor.

There was one jarring note to the political smoke-belching. An Indian watching below said Saticum misspelled "lieutenant-governor."

Mystery Ship

Sea Crash Kills Crewmen

LA CORUNA, Spain (UPI) — An undetermined number of crewmen apparently were killed Friday when a 12,000-ton Spanish freighter collided in fog with another vessel and sank about nine miles off the coast.

The navy said the tanker Bonifaz was afire before it sank.

35 RESCUED

Reports reaching naval authorities at Vigo, Spain, said at least 35 survivors of the Bonifaz were aboard rescue vessels.

Four were reported in serious condition from burns, a navy spokesman said.

The spokesman said the navy did not know of any other survivors from the Bonifaz. The crew was believed to number about 50.

NOT SEEN

"The collision took place because of poor visibility due to thick fog in the area. The other ship was not seen by the rescue ships and no one knows its identity or whereabouts," the spokesman said.

Earlier reports said it was the 30,000-ton French freighter, Fabiola, but the spokesman said, "this is news to me. No ship by that name was reported in the area."

DEAD BOY REVIVED -- IN VAIN

Special to the Colonist

PORT ALBERNI — A five-year-old boy was brought back from death after one hour and 20 minutes Thursday, only to die later in the day, the Colonist learned Friday.

Brian Spencer died in West Coast General Hospital at 11:25 p.m., about 10½ hours after he was pulled from nearby Sprout Lake by his mother, Mrs. Edward Spencer.

SUMMER HOME

Police and doctors told this story last night: Mrs. Spencer, of Compton Road in Alberni, went to the family's summer home on Lakeshore Road late Thursday morning with her six children, aged from nine years to a few months. Mr. Spencer stayed at his job as a truck driver.

WENT AFTER BOAT

Some or all of the children went to the shore to play shortly after their arrival. A toy boat belonging to Brian's smaller brother drifted away and Brian waded in to get it, but went over his depth.

How long he was under the lake surface is not known but Mrs. Spencer, a nurse, recovered his body at 12:50 noon. Brian was not breathing and there was no heartbeat.

RESUSCITATION

While a friend drove them the 10 miles to hospital, Mrs. Spencer applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

They reached the hospital at 1:20 p.m. and a team of two doctors and two nurses, already informed of the accident, immediately started artificial respiration through a tube placed down Brian's throat.

HEART BEATS

Closed heart massage was also applied and Brian's heart began beating at 2:10 p.m. His breathing was restored at 2:15.

However, brain damage was too much and the boy died a little more than nine hours later. He never regained consciousness.

Brian was the fourth youngest of the six Spencer children. Police said no inquest will be held but there will be an inquiry.

Editors Raided In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — Homes of two newspaper editors were among hundreds raided Friday when South African police staged their biggest mass raids of the year in Johannesburg and Pretoria.

An undisclosed number of persons was arrested as police looked for evidence of anti-government activity.

Brig. J. J. Van Den Bergh, chief of police security confirmed that among those arrested were a reporter for the Johannesburg Star and an 18-year-old girl whose father appears on the government's banned list.

The police chief said one of the homes raided was that of Rand Daily Mail editor L. L. Gandar. The home of Ronald Gill, editor of the Pretoria News, was raided "by mistake," sources close to the police said.

Blind Woman New Minister

SPCA Party July 15

DUNCAN — The biggest annual fund-raising activity of the local SPCA, its garden party, will begin at 7 p.m. July 15 at the home of Miss Mary Waldron. There will be a pet dog show for children and a variety program including singer Laurie Ratcliffe, musical saw player Doug Cameron and members of the Duncan Studio of Dancing.

ALBERNI — Seventeen new ministers were baptized yesterday by Jehovah's Witness missionary Carl Martin of Campbell River during the "Fruitage of the Spirit" assembly of 27 Island Witnesses groups on Vancouver Island.

The new ministers, baptized in a private pool on the outskirts of Alberni, range from teen-agers to elderly people and include one blind woman.

More than 1,000 Witnesses are attending the assembly, which centres on Alberni Athletic Hall and ends Sunday. Other delegates have come from as far away as Seattle.

Parking Expansion

Duncan Approves

Dobson

DUNCAN — City council has given approval in principle to the parking expansion proposal advanced by city planning commission chairman James Whitton. Mayor Jack Dobson announced yesterday.

The plan would increase parking space to 40 cars from the present 11 in an area between Canada Avenue and Kenneth Street, with a pedestrian access from Craig Street.

STEADY INCREASE

Mayor Dobson, who disclosed the approval was given at a closed council meeting, said council realizes "something drastic has to be done . . . to catch up with the steadily-increasing traffic in the downtown area."

He said council's objective is to create as much offstreet parking as possible to attract more people to Duncan. The planning commission, which was formed last year, is still working on the parking expansion scheme. It has also urged a facelift of buildings to create a more attractive downtown district.

Two Island Cadets Chosen for Course

Two Vancouver Island sea cadets have been chosen to attend a summer-long naval aviation course in Dartmouth, N.S., beginning July 7. The two, both 17 years of age, are Donald Braden of Victoria's Rainbow corps and Mark Purney of the Admiral Malguy corps in Duncan.

Around the Island

Timber Trade Up, Down

CHEMAINUS — Lumber exports from the ports of Chemainus and Crofton dropped to 20,243,004 board feet in June from 27,751,855 board feet the month before, but the June figure was 4,378,504 board feet above the total for June last year. Biggest customers were the United Kingdom and U.S. Pulp exports fell to 4,103 tons from 7,121 in May and 7,423 in June last year.

NANAIMO — About 15 cases of soft drinks shattered on the pavement Thursday evening at Wallace and Fitzwilliam when a loaded Nanaimo Bottling truck jumped the curb, apparently in an attempt to avoid a collision. No one was hurt.

QUALICUM — Chairman of the Nanaimo-Comox United Church presbytery for the next year is Rev. Chris Jack of Nanaimo. Other leading officers are W. R. Manson of Nanaimo, treasurer, and Rev. W. Crane of Qualicum Beach, secretary, while committee chairmen include Rev. R. Gracey and Rev. J. Hopper, Nanaimo area; Rev. T. K. Palmer, Lantzville; Rev. J. D. Verkirk, Port Alberni; Rev. W. R. Fenn, Courtenay; Rev. D. S. Lewis, Chemainus; Rev. W.

Victorians Winners

COURTENAY — Two Victorians were among the five major winners in the Dominion Day car gymkhana, which drew 24 entries.

John Stor won the large sports car event and Carol Eorgens took the women's award. Courtenay residents also won twice, Fred McLaughlin taking the large sedan event and Dennis O'Leary the small sedan contest, while Art Bayne of New Westminster won the small sports car event and was over-all time winner.

Museum Railway Approved

DUNCAN — News that the provincial cabinet yesterday approved the design and location of the Cowichan Valley forest museum railway was greeted with pleasure last night by museum official Gerald Wellburn.

Landscaping has started, he said, and remaining work includes fencing, drainage and more roads and paths.

Wellburn

the penalty date, Thursday, and tax collections therefore are at their normal level. An earlier plea to taxpayers to claim home owner grants brought an effective response, allowing city hall to claim the money sooner from the provincial government and save interest on borrowing.

NANAIMO — The annual vacation Bible school of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will open today in the church, officials say. It will run Monday through Friday until July 17 from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Omdurman Survivor Dies on Salt Spring

FULFORD—One of the last survivors anywhere in the world of the famous Omdurman campaign died yesterday in a nursing home here.

Funeral services for William Donald McLean, who would have been 93 Aug. 17, will be held in St. Mary's Anglican Church at 2 p.m. Monday.

THREE WARS

He joined the North Staffordshire regiment at 17 and was a veteran of three wars, the Sudanese war of 1898-1900, the South African campaign of 1900-1902 and the First World War. A native of Lanarkshire, Scotland, Mr. McLean entered the Sudan in Gen. Kitchener's expedition of 1895 and was promoted to sergeant during the campaign.

The battle of Omdurman outside Khartoum climaxed the campaign Sept. 2, 1898. It was in this battle that the "Thin Red Line" defeated the hordes of Sudan—a historic battle which marked the last clash between modern and ancient arms.

A news service story a year or two ago described Sir Winston Churchill as the sole survivor of this battle.

Mr. McLean came to Canada before the First World War and joined the Fifth Engineers at Prince Rupert in 1915. He served as a master drill with No. 1 tunnelling company.

Returning to Canada in 1920, he and his wife Alice homesteaded in the New Westminster district, driving a horse and buggy to Vancouver for supplies.

COSTLY FIRE

Later he worked in the mines at Fernie, where all his medals and decorations were lost in a house fire. The McLeans moved to Salt Spring Island 38 years ago.

The army asked Mr. McLean to join up in the Second World War, but he declined.

Mrs. McLean is his only survivor.

Whole Town On Job

COURTENAY—Few communities can get together like the communities of Vancouver Island.

Take, for example, the preparations for the open house next Wednesday in the Glacier View senior citizens' home here.

The Courtenay, Dove Creek and Lazo women's institutes will serve tea.

The Order of the Royal Purple is in charge of door tickets. The Canadian Daughters' League plans a bake sale.

The Eagles women's auxiliary will welcome guests and supervise the CGIT, which will help with the serving.

Rotary Annes have donated a food hamper for a draw. The Soroptimists also will assist with the tea.

The city of Courtenay operates the home, with the villages of Comox and Camberland providing financial aid.

Many other organizations, individuals and church groups help during the year.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Are plans being made for a one-day B.C.-wide strike against MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River to support the striking Alberni Valley office workers?

Pat O'Neal, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, refused yesterday to confirm or deny the rumored strike when he announced the federation will meet in Vancouver Friday to discuss the 46-day-old office dispute.

STUDY MEASURES

He said the office strike was under constant review and the meeting would study the effect of recent measures designed to force the company to end the strike.

This included a work slowdown at other Mac-Powell operations in the province and a refusal by union members to work overtime.

"There may be more suggestions to make the strike more effective," Mr. O'Neal said.

Other strike developments:

● Direct negotiations continued in Vancouver under the supervision of Labor Relations Board vice-chairman G. A. Little, still with no statement.

● Mac-Powell created a new post, general manager for the Alberni area, and appointed J. R. Forrest. The firm said operations are growing more complex and the manager with co-ordinate in the best interests of company and community.

● The Duncan-Nanaimo IWA local said the result will be announced next Saturday of a vote by its 4,000 members on a $1 monthly contribution to help the strikers.

'Busiest' Weekend Due July 11 For Nanaimo Area

NANAIMO — The July 11 weekend may be the busiest of the year in this area.

The annual Highland games will be held all day in Caledonia Park on the Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m., while many events will fill the Prairie Peoples Days weekend.

Dr. C. C. Browne will be chieftain for the games, which will likely be opened officially by deputy recreation minister Dr. David Turner.

Two judges were named yesterday, Mary Ann Elliott of West Vancouver and Marcia Collard of Quebec will judge the dancing events.

STRAIGHT FIRSTS

Miss Elliott is perhaps the only person who ever placed first in all games in the under-16 class. Mrs. Collard is an official Scottish adjudicator and a fellow and examiner of the British Association of Dancing Teachers.

First event of the day will be individual piping and last will be the massed pipe bands parade, including the Seaforth Highlander cadets, Kiwanis, White Spot, Vancouver Women's and Highland Ladies band.

PRAIRIE DAYS

Prairie Peoples Day events will include a two-day salmon barbecue on Newcastle Island, Pirate Days with roving "pirates" in full dress, a swim to Protection Island, bands, a yacht club torchlight parade and "hidden treasure."

The weekend follows the gala Prairie Peoples' picnic in Parksville Sunday. This 10th annual event will include an oldtime fiddling contest, tug-of-war, horseshoe tournament, children's races and dancing.

Campbell:

Ottawa Tries To Duck Ferry Aid

The federal government is trying to duck its constitutional responsibility to assist ferry operations on the west coast, Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell said Friday.

The minister, speaking as MLA for Comox, said the provincial government is already heavily committed to ferry operations from Victoria North to Quadra Island.

MILLIONS NEEDED

"If this is projected all the way up the coast to Prince Rupert and beyond, it is possible to see how many millions of dollars would have to be paid by the taxpayers of this province," said Mr. Campbell.

Yet this is obviously the way things are shaping up. Where private ferry operators cannot obtain a federal subsidy to meet their needs, there is going to be a lack of service until the provincial government eventually is forced to step in.

FEDERAL FIELD

Not only are these provincial ferries a 100 per cent charge on B.C. taxpayers, said Mr. Campbell, but it moves the provincial government into a field which traditionally has been federal.

REALISTIC VIEW

Mr. Campbell said he favors Ottawa "assuming a realistic financial responsibility" for the operation of ferry services like the one provided by Barkley Sound Transportation Co. which operates the Uchuck III from Zeballos to Tahsis and Gold River.

And he points out that on at least four occasions since 1958 not only the provincial government but the legislature as a whole has gone on record as favoring increased federal responsibility for all forms of transportation on the coast including ferries.

B.C. AID ASKED

Meanwhile, John Squire, NDP member for Alberni, has sent another letter to Highway Minister Gagliardi pressing for provincial assistance on the Zeballos — Tahsis — Gold River run.

Mr. Squire said any thought of increasing fares or freight rates to supplement the present $1,000 monthly federal subsidy "is entirely out of the question."

He added: "Management would like to have fares reduced, not increased."

Fulford Plans Hall Expansion

FULFORD — Plans to expand the entrance area and add 500 square feet to the main floor of Fulford hall have been announced by the Fulford Athletic Club.

Bob Akerman, one of the key men in the committee drawing up the hall improvement plans, said the present entrance will be torn down and an area 48 feet by 36 feet built in its place.

"That will give us a large lounge, dressing rooms, a concession bar and a balcony above," he said.

The senior skating club has donated $50 toward the entrance fund, which has been set up at the local bank, and sums will be added as community events bring in proceeds.

The project will start Oct. 1 under winter works. The lounge will contain a glass showcase to hold trophies won by past Fulford teams and the plaque with the names of Salt Spring Island's war dead.

The Fulford hall committee is combining forces with the Athletic Club to stage Ful-ford's Pirate Day Aug. 8, proceeds of which will go to the entrance fund.

Events on the athletic field behind Akerman's will include a beef barbecue, concessions, booths and a tournament involving Salt Spring, Duncan and Victoria ball teams.

Luxury Liner Pauses Sunday

The P&O-Orient liner Oriana will pick up the pilot off Brochle Ledge at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. The 42,000-ton luxury liner will make her maiden visit to Seattle next week.

She will sail from Vancouver at 9 a.m. Monday after taking on 576 passengers for the U.S. west coast, Acapulco, Balboa, the Panama Canal, Kingston, Bermuda and England.

As Barriers Fall

Whites Wave Axe Handles

ATLANTA (UPI) — Angry whites wielding axe handles drove Negroes away from a segregated restaurant here Friday but racial barriers fell in many southern cities that once were hotspots.

Integration

Johnson City Split

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — Two of the four motels in this town adjacent to President Johnson's LBJ Ranch Friday refused to drop barriers against Negroes despite the new civil rights law. The other two did.

Mrs. Emil Kroll, who with her husband, operates the Eureka Courts, said she "would be happy to accept Negroes as customers."

Mrs. Teemor Furr, whose husband owns Furr's Cafe and Motel, said Negroes are served in the restaurant but will not be accepted at the new motel which opened only Friday.

"I wouldn't want them in the motel," Mrs. Furr said. "I think I would find some excuse (to refuse Negro customers)."

Byron Crider, owner of Crider's Motel, said he would continue to bar Negroes until all other motels in town integrate.

One motel owner suggested that the decision "to open some of Johnson City's facilities to Negroes was based less on passage of the civil rights bill than on the fact that the town is in the limelight now."

Birmingham, Ala., Danville and Petersburg, Va., Tallahassee, Fla., Memphis, Tenn., and Savannah, Ga., all reported instances of Negroes exercising their rights without incident under the new civil rights law.

Many of the remaining barriers in Atlanta dropped, too. But the city also saw the strongest incident of resistance yet reported under the new law.

When three Negro ministers drove up to eat at the restaurant of vocal segregationist Lester Maddox, Maddox and 20 white men were waiting outside for them. Maddox had a pistol in a holster on his belt and at least four of the whites held axe handles.

As the Negroes' car pulled into the parking lot of the restaurant, Maddox ran toward it screaming "Get out of here. You ain't never gonna eat in this place."

His friends began beating a tattoo on the roof of the car with their axe handles. Maddox vigorously kicked the car and continued yelling.

One of the Negroes got out of the car and began walking toward the restaurant, but the whites, their axe handles raised, chased him back to the car.

The Negroes then drove away and one of them, Rev. George Willis, leaned out to yell, "We'll be back and we'll come in, too." Maddox, who once made an unsuccessful bid for lieutenant-governor, said, "I will use axe handles, fists, guns, my employees, my patrons and anything at my disposal" to keep out Negroes. "This place belongs to me."

Nikita Fights Crisis

Secret Poland Talks Reported Planned

LONDON (UPI) — Nikita Khrushchev and selected leaders from key Communist parties will meet secretly in Poland late this month for emergency summit talks on growing crisis within the Communist world, diplomatic sources reported Friday.

The sources said the restricted top-level talks were expected to be held around July 22 under cover of celebrations marking the 20th anniversary of Poland's liberation from Nazi occupation.

They will bring together Khrushchev and eastern European satellite leaders as well as some other Communist party heads, the reports said. The source said the behind-the-scenes meeting was expected to review latest developments in two key issues disturbing the Communist camp:

Forest Fire Scorches U.S. Resort

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A wind-whipped brush fire Friday struck a small resort town, scorched it, and sped on into hills beyond. An army of firemen saved the town's houses.

Southern California's first big fire of the summer dry season still is out of control north of Los Angeles.

By dusk Friday it had charred 10,000 acres. Sudden, gusty winds Friday sent the blaze racing toward Green Valley—a community of 800 in an oak-studded vale.

Scores of firemen and 20 Los Angeles County pumper trucks were waiting in Green Valley when 20-foot high flames raced down a 3,000-foot slope to the village edge.

Signs of growing dissension within Moscow's satellite empire in eastern Europe. In a prelude to the expected Warsaw meeting, non-stop consultations have been going on among individual leaders of the Red camp in recent weeks. Their results are to be made known to the gathered leaders in the Polish capital, the sources said.

The preliminary soundings are reliably reported to have revealed a growing restlessness in the Communist movement and serious signs of dissension among the Soviet satellites.

Diplomatic reports reaching here said the dissensions were so deep and widespread they threatened to split the Communist movement not only between Peking and Moscow but also into a wider fragmentation, along national lines.

The reports said there is great confusion within the Communist camp as to its future course, with the Kremlin showing signs of alarm that it may not be able to keep the camp together unless some action is taken very soon.

The Soviet Union is understood—against the advice of some of its allies—to be advocating concrete preparations for a world Communist parley that would try to lay down a firm Communist line to tighten party discipline and adherence to Moscow.

Pisa Tower Riding Slow Rocker

PISA, Italy (UPI) — The leaning tower of Pisa is leaning less, a yearly report on the famous 600-year-old bell tower showed Friday. Silvano Ballarin, the engineer in charge of the tower's inclinations, said the surprising results of this year's measurements showed the 600-year-old structure was leaning six-tenths of a millimetre less than at the same time last year.

Congo

Mercy Ship Sails

BUJUMBURA (CP) — A Belgian lake steamer sailed from this Burund capital Friday for troubled Albertville in the eastern Congo to evacuate British, Canadian, Belgian, and other refugees and United Nations personnel.

Latest information reaching here was that the city was still held by left-wing guerrillas who oppose the central Congolese government.

The unarmed steamer flew Red Cross and United Nations flags as she steamed out on the 19-hour voyage down Lake Tanganyika to Albertville.

Reported among the refugees was Canadian missionary Robert Greenhow, 45, of Windsor, Ont.

Special to the Colonist

PORT ALBERNI—A five-year-old boy was brought back from death after one hour and 20 minutes Thursday, only to die later in the day, the Colonist learned Friday.

Brian Spencer died in West Coast General Hospital at 11:25 p.m., about 10½ hours after he was pulled from nearby Sproat Lake by his mother, Mrs. Edward Spencer.

Police and doctors told this story last night:

Mrs. Spencer, of Compton Road in Alberni, went to the family's summer home on Lakeshore Road late Thursday morning with her six children, aged from nine years to a few months. Mr. Spencer stayed at his job as a truck driver.

WENT AFTER BOAT

Some or all of the children went to the shore to play shortly after their arrival. A toy boat belonging to Brian's smaller brother drifted away and Brian waded in to get it, but went over his depth.

How long he was under the lake surface is not known but Mrs. Spencer, a nurse, recovered his body at 12:50 noon. Brian was not breathing and there was no heartbeat.

RESUSCITATION

While a friend drove them the 10 miles to hospital, Mrs. Spencer applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

They reached the hospital at 1:20 p.m. and a team of two doctors and two nurses, already informed of the accident, immediately started artificial respiration through a tube placed down Brian's throat.

HEART BEATS

Closed heart massage was also applied and Brian's heart began beating at 2:10 p.m. His breathing was restored at 2:15. However, brain damage was too much and the boy died a little more than nine hours later. He never regained consciousness.

Brian was the fourth youngest of the six Spencer children. Police said no inquest will be held but there will be an inquiry.

Mystery Ship

Sea Crash Kills Crewmen

LA CORUNA, Spain (UPI) — An undetermined number of crewmen apparently were killed Friday when a 12,000-ton Spanish freighter collided in fog with another vessel and sank about nine miles off the coast.

The navy said the tanker Bonifaz was afloat before it sank.

35 RESCUED

Reports reaching naval authorities at Vigo, Spain, said at least 35 survivors of the Bonifaz were aboard rescue vessels.

Four were reported in serious condition from burns, a navy spokesman said.

The spokesman said the navy did not know of any other survivors from the Bonifaz. The crew was believed to number about 50.

NOT SEEN

The collision took place because of poor visibility due to thick fog in the area. The other ship was not seen by the rescue ships and no one knows its identity or whereabouts, the spokesman said.

Earlier reports said it was the 30,000-ton French freighter, Fabiola, but the spokesman said, "this is news to me. No ship by that name was reported in the area."

Commonwealth: Broader Role

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — Sir Alec Douglas-Home hopes to make a broader concept of Commonwealth co-operation the main theme of the conference of prime ministers opening at Marlborough House Wednesday.

This is the British prime minister's answer to persistent critics of the Commonwealth and to the question, as expressed by one newspaper Friday: "Is this a farce—or has it a future?"

Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya was scheduled to arrive today, joining Australia's Sir Robert Menzies and Uganda's Milton Obote, who are already here. That trio symbolizes the changing complexion of the Commonwealth.

Prime Minister Pearson arrives Tuesday. He faces a heavy social schedule as well as the seven days of 18-country conference sessions.

For some months Douglas-Home has been developing the idea that, with a relaxation of tensions between East and West, the opportunity is clear for new co-operation between the rich white countries of the north and the poor dark countries of the south.

The Commonwealth with its unique linking of centuries of all colors and stages of development can be of immense importance in this mission, Sir Alec maintains.

Douglas-Home proposes a stepped-up program of exchange of experts and volunteers among Commonwealth countries.

The plan, meaning finance from such richer countries as Britain and Canada, would involve a central agency by

Editors Raided In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (UPI)—Homes of two newspaper editors were among hundreds raided Friday when South African police staged their biggest mass raids of the year in Johannesburg and Pretoria.

An undisclosed number of persons was arrested as police looked for evidence of anti-government activity.

Brig. J. J. Van Den Bergh, chief of police security confirmed that among those arrested was a reporter for the Johannesburg Star and an 18-year-old girl whose father appears on the government's banned list.

The police chief said one of the homes raided was that of Rand Daily Mail editor L. L. Gandar. The home of Ronald Gill, editor of the Pretoria News, was raided "by mistake," sources close to the police said.
